Eligible medical expense

Medical expenses that can be reimbursed through your HSA include services and supplies incurred by you or your eligible dependents for the diagnosis, treatment or prevention of disease or for the amounts you pay for transportation to get medical care.

In general, deductions allowed for medical expenses on your federal income tax according to Internal Revenue Code Section 213(d) may be reimbursed through your HSA. You cannot deduct medical expenses on your federal income tax that have been reimbursed through your HSA. It is possible that changes in the IRS rules can affect the eligible, potentially eligible, and/or ineligible expense categories.

HSA eligible medical expenses do not include medical premiums except COBRA, health insurance (other than Medicare Supplement policies) after the individual has reached age 65, qualified long-term care insurance, and health coverage while the account holder is receiving unemployment compensation. Premiums for employer-sponsored retiree medical plans can also be paid from the HSA.

Potentially eligible medical expenses

In order to determine eligibility for potentially eligible items, SelectAccount requires a Letter of Medical Necessity from your health care provider. You can obtain a Letter of Medical Necessity to have your health care provider complete at www.selectaccount.com.

Excess cost

Some expenses are only partially reimbursable. This means only the portion of the cost that exceeds the price of a regular item (excess cost) is eligible. Example: If your health care provider recommends orthopedic shoes and the cost is $15 more than regular shoes, only the $15 excess cost is eligible for reimbursement. You must submit a price comparison for a similar item along with your claim form. If the item is potentially eligible, you must also submit a Letter of Medical Necessity.

Capital expense

A capital expense is an improvement and/or special equipment added to a home or other capital expenditure that may be eligible if the primary purpose is medical care. A Letter of Medical Necessity is required from your health care provider. To submit your capital expense, you must have an appraisal of your home within one year prior to the installation and an appraisal after the installation to determine the value added to the home. The amount eligible is the difference between the cost of the expense and the increase in the additional value of your home. If the improvement/special equipment is used by individuals other than the person needing it for medical care, the eligible amount should be divided by the number of people using the item. Example: A ramp is purchased for $3,000 and prior to installation your house is appraised at $100,000. After installation of the ramp your house is appraised for $101,000. The amount that is eligible under your HSA is $2,000.

For assistance in calculating capital expense, the Capital Expense Worksheet is available at www.selectaccount.com. If you have questions about a capital expense, please contact customer service for a more detailed explanation.
